

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE

No returns for Nottinghamshire have survived in the Public Record Office almost certainly because they were never sent to the Home Office in 1801-2. There seems to be no obvious explanation for this. The county of Nottingham was entirely within the Diocese of York, which also represented most of the county of Yorkshire. As will be seen below Yorkshire is very well covered which makes the absence of Nottinghamshire stranger still.